VALUE*Community Partners

Giving back to the communities in which we live and work remains a priority at NJNG as our efforts focus on the issues we know to be most important to our customers – education, wellness and the environment. As a reliable partner we are committed to making the places we live, learn and work the best they can be.

KIDS and conservation*Energy by Design:

Students, take out your art supplies and video cameras and get creative for a chance to win some cool prizes.

A Visual Arts Contest for Fifth Graders

Let your fifth grader's talent shine through in the fifth annual NJNG Conserve to Preserve® Kids and Conservation Poster Contest.* The contest is open to all fifth grade classes within NJNG's service territory and offers students a chance to win one of three laptop computers. And the winning student's school will receive a $1,000 contribution towards an energy-conservation or environmental project!

Lights. Camera. Action!

This year, we're adding a video contest for high school students within our service territory to showcase their energy-saving efforts. Videos can be submitted as an individual or group project. Winning individual submissions will receive $500 and winning group submissions will receive up to $2,500.*

Our community partner, the Asbury Park Press, will showcase the finalists' videos on its Web site where the public will vote for the viewer's choice award. The winning entry will receive an additional $500. Videos must be no more than two minutes in length and highlight natural gas energy conservation efforts.

Just give us a call at 732-938-1035 to get started. All poster and video contest entries must be submitted before November 20, 2011. Winners will be announced at NJNG's annual meeting in January 2012.

SPEAKERS' BUREAU

The NJNG Speakers' Bureau provides FREE quality programs designed to entertain and educate audiences throughout our service territory. Learn about such topics as energy efficiency and conservation, safety, energy assistance and the environment.

For smaller elementary school groups, we offer an age appropriate video and follow-up discussion. Larger student group assemblies can check out the Energy Hog show. This 30-minute skit features the villainous Energy Hog and his nemesis the Energy Hog Buster.

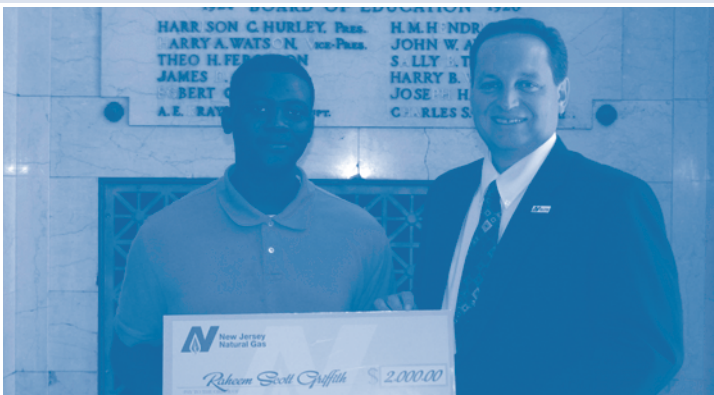

Whether you are looking for a guest lecturer or classroom speaker, we've got the program for you. For information or to schedule a Speakers' Bureau contact 732-938-1035, speakers@njng.com.

Yes, We Want the Shirt off Your Back!

Big Brothers Big Sisters (BBBS) relies mostly on funding from private donations to continue its long-standing tradition of helping our future generation be the best that they can be. So do your part to help BBBS raise funds by donating gently worn, unwanted clothing, sneakers and clothing accessories. Proceeds from the sale of donated items benefit local BBBS chapters. To schedule a FREE pickup, call 877-336-8828 or go to the Schedule a Pickup tab at www.njpickup.org.

For information on mentoring opportunities contact 973-335-3044. Thank you for joining us in our support of BBBS and many other local nonprofit organizations.

Raheem Scott-Griffith, former senior at Asbury Park High School, and Tom Hayes, director of customer and community relations. Here Raheem receives a $2,000 college scholarship from NJNG, which is offered to past participants of Project Venture, a corporate mentoring program of BBBS and NJNG.

VISION

Volunteers Inspiring Service In Our Neighborhoods

NJNG is committing our energy to the future.

Through our VISION program, we provide volunteers and financial support to hundreds of nonprofit organizations in our neighborhood. One of our biggest VISION events is just around the corner. Join team NJNG and help make a difference one step at a time.
