Municipalities • Public Officials • Emergency Responders • Engineers • Contractors

When it comes to safety, it's all about making a solid connection. That's why New Jersey Natural Gas (NJNG) wants to partner with you. We all share the responsibility to keep our communities safe.

Our Partners in Safety team works directly with municipalities to provide the training and resources needed to ensure we all live and work safely with natural gas. Municipal administrators, code officials, emergency responders, public works departments and contractors can all benefit from this FREE training.

Highlights include:

- Damage prevention
- Recognizing trouble signs and signals
- Smart responses to unsafe conditions
- How to report potential safety issues

Here's what Bob Gaestel, a Stafford Township code official, says about his municipality's experience with NJNG's Partners in Safety team: "We have a solid, longstanding relationship with NJNG and have hosted several Partners in Safety programs at our facilities. Each time we've come away with a better understanding of proper safety procedures. Their team is knowledgeable and dedicated to providing the tools and resources we need to keep our residents and business owners safe."

Join Stafford Township and the many other municipalities that have become our Partners in Safety. FREE presentations can be held at one of our facilities or at your own site.
